What is the Forex Market?

Today, we know the Forex Market as a global digital marketplace where the performance of currencies are traded against each other. To date, the Forex Market is the largest market on the planet in terms of liquidity which is attracting more and more traders each day. With the growing interest in the Forex Market, technology has been developed to make ease of access to participating as a trader, seamless and cost efficient for anyone.

Who is trading most suitable for?

Quite frankly, the skill of successful trading is one that is perfectly suitable for anyone who has an additional hour in their day to spare with a keen interest on building an additional income. For any beginner, the idea of learning something new can seem daunting which is what often stops them in their tracks before they even start. It is for this reason that we have designed this course to be as simple to engage with as possible ensuring even the most novice beginner feels comfortable and more importantly, confident!

With that said, this course also welcomes already established traders that are seeking something more or additional to build their routine, success rate or consistency with.

Can you trade the Forex Market if you have a full-time job commitment?

Absolutely! Gone are they days of needing to stare at a computer screen all day to seek trading opportunity. We have created a trusted trading strategy that will define your daily routine and not require much analytical evaluation due to the strict set of rules and guidelines that will lead you through a checklist approach to ensure your decision-making process is consistent time effective. With as little as 1-hour actual chart work time a day, you will be able to efficiently identify setups, execute your trades and post manage them like a professional!

What are the details of our Forex Trading course?

Four Weeks Dedicated to Your Educational Journey.

- One online class per week (on Monday evenings), followed by supporting resources to read over and engage with before the following week's class. If you are unable to attend the full class, a recording of it will be emailed to you that same evening.
- Two hours per class. Because your time is precious, so we won't demand too much of it.

Content That Will Set You Up to Trade Like a Seasoned Professional

- Four modules (one for each week) dedicated to ensuring you gain an in-depth, multi layered knowledge of the Forex Market and more importantly, how to trade it successfully.
- Four lessons per module, structured to guarantee your confident understanding of both the theoretical side of the market as well as the practical application of the theories taught.

Trading Strategy You Can Rely On

- You can expect to be taught a short-term trading strategy designed to seek, highlight and monetize opportunity in the market.
- The strategy provided follows a strict methodology which is very simple to execute. It does not require personal discretion which eliminates human error and mistakes often made by traders effected by emotional aspects of the decision-making process.
- A reliable trading strategy is always coupled with sound risk management, which is why we have dedicated an entire module to just that. Making money from the markets is one thing but learning how to first preserve and protect what you have before gearing up to make more is a key skill we take very seriously.
